

4-H Money

Education and character-building are the basis of the 4-H Program. Federal, State and County tax funds are the major sources of support. Some 4-H educational efforts cannot be fully supported by tax dollars alone and fundraising by 4-H groups has always been a part of 4-H programs.

In seeking private support for 4-H programs (like Weld County CWF) through fundraising, Extension Agents must insure that the funds are given and used according to Federal Regulations including the following:

- Fundraising and use of the 4-H Name and Emblem must have the approval of Extension Agents.
- All moneys received from 4-H fundraising, except those necessary to pay reasonable expenses must be used to further 4-H educational programs.
- The privilege of using the name and emblem of 4-H carries the responsibility of being accountable for its use and any funds that are used in its name.

The misuse or theft of 4-H funds will be dealt with through law enforcement. It is in everyone's interest to have safeguards and controls to prevent the opportunity for the misuse of 4-H funds.

While members, leaders and parents in your 4-H club or group raise funds to support the educational efforts of the CWF group, the money is not yours.

It is considered public money because it is raised on behalf of 4-H. This means that you must be legally accountable and responsible in handling 4-H funds.
